SAINT KURIAKOSE ELIAS CHAVARA

Saint Kuriakose Elias Chavara who was a nineteenth century educationist and social reformer in India. Kuriakose Chavara was born in 1805, in Kainakary, Kerala. He played a major role in educating the people of the lower ranks of society. He started a school at Mannanam in 1846. He was responsible for introducing noon day meals in schools, a practice later adopted by the rulers of Travancore and then by the Indian government. In 1864, while he was serving as the Vicar General of Syrian Catholics, he ordered to start a school along with every church which was successful in making free education available for everyone. Thus schools in Kerala came to be known as 'Pallikudam'.

Kuriakose Elias attained eternal peace on 3 January 1871, aged 66, at Koonammavu a northern suburb of Cochin City. Kuriakose Elias was beatified at Kottayam on 8 February 1986, and later on November 23, 2014 he was canonized at St. Peter's Square by Pope Francis.

Principal's Message

It is an immense joy to greet you all through this latest issue of Crest.

The magic word on the lips of most Indian businessmen is 'startup.' The entire nation is abuzz with policies and programmes to herald an entrepreneurial upsurge. The infrastructure and investment climate are a fillip for startups. The transition from being an employee to an employer, from being a follower to a creator, from adoption to innovation, is changing the industrial fabric of the nation. This adrenaline rush to start new businesses is very evident in the number of starts that have surfaced since the launch of 'Startup India, Stand up India,' by the Prime Minister. Young India has unlimited opportunities for new venture creation. The global environment too has welcomed this new dawn with open arms. In keeping with the theme for the academic year 'Reinventing skills for global competency,' the college has ventured into various programmes to build the corporate and entrepreneurial skills of the students. Hope these initiatives would equip all the students to be innovators and creators of modern India. I appreciate the faculty and students of School of Management and wish them the very best.

Vice Principal's Message

Rev. Fr. Augustine George
Vice Principal

Excellence in any field is a dynamic target. When you are about to reach the target, the target itself moves. But if we are static or stagnating or slow to adapt to these changes, the target moves away from us and it goes beyond our reach. So managing change is the most important challenge that we face in the contemporary world. But how do we manage this change? Change can be effectively managed through specific strategies and these strategies are evolved by fostering innovations. People are no longer bound by conventional business models and structures. This is quite true with any business studies and challenge to any management schools. The Department of Management Studies, Kristu Jayanti College aims at developing this new way of learning experience among the students synthesizing both formal and informal education. Apart from the delivery of the curriculum through an innovative teaching pedagogy, they have number of interactive programme to enhance and to sustain the managerial skills of the students. Crest, the newsletter of the department brings to limelight activities and achievements of the department. It captures the glimpses of all academic, curricular and co-curricular activities, initiatives and achievements.
